His Children and Their Grandmother Witness the Awful Act.

Torone tealousy on the part of a husband was the cause of a tragedy in Brooklyn this

At 6.30 o'clock Peter Wagner, thirty years old, a stonecutter, of 928 Flushing avenue, shot his wife, Lena, in the back of the neci and then sent a bullet crashing through his own forehead. He died instantly. Mrs. Wagner is thirty years old. After the shooting she was removed to St. Catherine's Hospital, where the physicians say she has about one chance in ten of recovering. She was able to make a statement, but re-

Wagner muttered something and went away, returning at 7 o'clock. He had evientered the kitchen. His wife had her back turned towards him and did not bear his approach.

Walking up to her, the husband said : "This is for you !" and immediately fired. Mena, the oldest girl, who at the time was removing the tablecloth, seized her father's hand, shricking : " For God's sake don't, papa!" Mrs. Wagner staggered after the bullet enered her head, but gid not fall. She ran to the door and downstairs to the sidewalk where she fell unconscious. As she ran the husband broke away from his daughter and fired three shots at the fleeing wife, but did not hit her. He ran down the stairs after her, and had almost reached her when she fell unconscious on the sidewalk.

As he stood by her with the smoking pistol in his hand he said: "I've settled you at last. Now for myself !"

Back up the stairs he ran, and in the presence of his frightened little ones he fired the bullet into his own head.

The body was removed later to Warden hauer's undertaking establishment, 55 Hamburg avenue.

ars. Brusch, the mother of Mrs. Wagner, said to an Evening World reporter: " Wagner's suspicions against his wife were entirely unfounded. He had been drinking heavily during the past few days, and has been quarrelsome.

Frank Hartz, thirty-five years old, was Kitzabeth, 73 Elizabeth street, at 8.25 o'clock this morning. Death was due to asphyxiation, caused by escaping gas.

A woman who occupied the room last night with Hartz was missing when his body was discovered, and at first it was believed she was implicated in his death.

But investigation later showed otherwise, as the door of the room was belted on the lastide and had to be broken open.

Lartz engaged the room about 7 o'clock last night, and deposited $30 with Charles McDonald, the bartender, for safetzeping. The door of gas was discovered by McDonald, and he burst in the door, finding Hartz dead in bed, unity stired.

The gas was turned on at full force and the single window in the room was tightly closed. Mobody knew the woman who accomisated Larts and nobody knew when she left the nouse, but he undoubtedly left her out of the room and boiled the door after her departure. Whether he them filew out the gas by mistake or intended to kill himself is what the police are now trying to determine.
